The business of managing a dental practice can be overwhelming—from protecting patient information and managing workflows to having a centralized system that can store, manage, and secure data. New cloud-based software that's designed for dental practices, whether a single office or one that's growing with multiple locations, is changing the way practices operate from the inside out. There are many benefits to investing in a newer, smarter solution, such as:

- Creating more direct relationships with patients
- Generating more revenue via intuitive scheduling
- Better access to insurance information and electronic billing
- Paperless transactions and online scheduling
- Automating appointment reminders
- Automatic backups and security that can help your office comply with HIPAA requirements

A Path to Productivity

Dentrix Ascend is one of the newest cloud-based systems that fulfills a range of needs in the front and back office of any size dental practice. The system's goal is to allow dentists to spend more time treating patients and less time on running their business.

A key benefit of the software platform is being able to scale between one office and multiple locations, with the ability to share data between all locations on a cloud-based system that works with both PCs and Macs. Ultimately, the system helps simplify day-to-day practice management by merging clinical and financial workflows into one easy-to-use interface.

Key features include: Being able to tee up a customized to-do list for the day; easy access to important patient data that can be shared across locations; digital check-in and check-out; access to financial and business metrics to help guide hiring, product ordering, and appointments; insurance claims submission and tracking; secure storage of digital images and data; and tracking progress of treatment plans.

Smarter and Faster

Who doesn't want to work smarter and faster? Dentrix Ascend blends advanced business, practice management, and clinical tools into one interface that's designed to be easy to learn and to use. The goal: To get more done in less time. The heart of the system is the ability to customize workflows, whether dealing with billing or clinical tracking. Dentrix Ascend is built on the idea of GPS (Goals, Problems and Solutions), which helps identify tasks that need the most attention while providing a robust solution that can keep a practice on track.

A built-in Task Automation Management Intelligence (TAMI) feature also helps to automate repetitive tasks, like creating patient reminders and ultimately helping a practice work smarter in less time. There are even apps that can be added to a system, like electronic prescriptions and online payment options.

Cloud Computing for the Win

As more dental practices switch to cloud computing, they are discovering a wealth of benefits, like being able to access secure data from any smart device. Overall, cloud computing helps practices increase efficiency, access smarter technology, and implement the kind of solutions that can be customized for the best possible outcomes.

As practices seek to be more welcoming, flexible, and adaptable, the benefits of Dentrix Ascend can truly deliver the results in ways that make both the back and front office, and patient experience, better.
